TOO MUCH FLIRTING

A complaint from the Department of Education was made this morning to the Acting Governor concerning the conduct of some of the fireman attached to the Palama Fire Station in relation to the inmates of the Girls' Industrial School. It was stated that there have been frequent cases of the men talking and flirting with the girls there and that protests had been in vain. The matter had already been brought to the attention of Chief Thurston on a former occasion when he issued a warning to the men. The Acting Governor summoned the chief to his office today and turned the complaint over to him for action. The chief stated that he would take prompt measures and the next man who is caught transgressing will be discharged.

W. H. DIMOND SAW WRECKAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The loss of her anchor and sixty fathoms of chain placed the barkentine W. H. Dimond in jeopardy yesterday morning upon her arrival from Honolulu after a passage of twenty-seven days. The vessel brought a cargo of 10,000 bags of sugar. When rounding to off Black point the barkentine let go an anchor, but it carried away, along with a great length of chain, and the Dimond drifted rapidly in the direction of Alcatraz Island. She was within 100 feet of the rocky shores of the prison island when the remaining anchor, which had been cast overboard, took hold of the bottom and brought the vessel to a stop. The escape from disaster was a narrow one, a strong tide running at the time.

The skipper of the Dimond brought the report that on June 30th, at 11:25 o'clock in the morning, he saw pieces of wreckage in latitude 55 deg. 42 min. north, longitude 124 deg. 32 min. west. At 8:45 o'clock in the evening of the same day the Dimond passed close by the wreck of a vessel, apparently of wood, fifty-two miles west of the Farallon Islands. The wreck was bottom side up, and appeared to be about 150 feet in length. There was nothing to indicate its identity. The weather was hazy at the time. At the Merchants' Exchange nothing could be learned about the wreck, and no guess was hazarded as to its identity.

FOOT POLICEMAN STRAYED FROM PATH

Although John Keanini is a foot policeman and treads his beat every day he has not according to the charges made by his wife been treading the straight and thorny path of rectitude. In fact John appears to have been doing exactly the contrary and has been ambling along the primrose path as frisky as the Democratic jacks in convention time. Mrs. Lono Keanini has filed libel for divorce against John. She states that they were married in December 1899 and that shortly after her marriage he began to make life diverting and interesting for her, by beating her at constant intervals. Some times he would give her a rest, in order probably, that the sore spots on her body might heal but he would return to his exhibitions of strength. She claims that on or about January 1, 1901, he cruelly beat her in the face with his fists, and kicked her on the body with his heavy shoes and otherwise maltreated her. She was so badly used up by this encounter that she was ill in bed for two weeks, so the complaint charges.

She claimed that the man deserted her after administering this beating. He has lived away from her ever since, and she claims has been living with a woman named Meleana. He has furthermore, failed to provide for his wife, so she wants a divorce and such relief as the court may order.

SYSTEMATIC IN HIS ROBBERIES

George Kana, the alleged bogus health inspector, appears to have been quite a systematic operator. He kept accounts of all the places he visited and committed depredations, together with the amounts of money secured from them. The list is quite formidable and shows that he was well on to three score of places visited and over $400 in cash secured.

Detective McDuffie effected a very good capture in landing the defendant. About 20 watches of various kinds and description were stolen, the police charge, by Kana. Fifteen watches have already been recovered and five more are to be located today. Nearly two dozen Chinese have been to the police station today to make complaint against the prisoner. Evidence, the police say, that the fellow looted fully forty different places, has been secured by the police.

Kana had a Board of Health badge and he displayed this sign of authority every time he went to any of the houses of prospective victims. Naturally the Chinese would think that he was an official and they would allow him to enter their places. He would carefully measure the various rooms under the representation that he was securing information for the Board of Health regarding that particular place he visited. He was quite a bold operator, according to the story told the police, and he rifled the different places in very quick style.

He appears to have confined his operations to the Chinese quarter of the city, as only Chinese seem to have suffered at his hands. Considerable of the booty he is charged with securing has been recovered by the police.

The defendant was arraigned before Judge Lindsay this morning on a charge of embezzlement and a second charge of larceny. Both cases were continued until tomorrow.

A LEPER ARTIST

Superintendent J. D. McVeigh of the leper settlement is in the city today and will remain until Monday morning. Matters at the settlement are going along as usual. The people just getting over the celebration of the Fourth which was the greatest day in the history of the settlement, McVeigh brings with him for presentation to Acting Governor Atkinson a pen and ink drawing of incidents on the fourth, the work being done by a leper named Walamau. The sketches show a great deal of talent, and the treatment of some of the comic scenes such as the donkey race and the pie eating contest, indicate that the artist has an appreciation of the humorous side of life in no small degree. The center of the drawing containing a good portrait of the superintendent.
